

THE OYEZ

VOLUME 47: ISSUE 4

WELCOME BACK
THIRD YEARS

PROMO

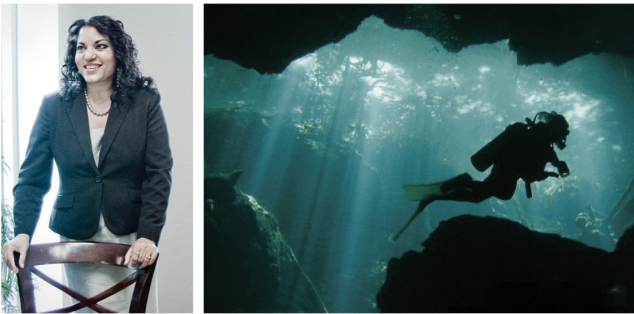

FIRST BENCHER PART II

They just messed with the wrong Professor.
No Dean, no law, no faculty can stop him .

CATASCO

A promotional image for a video. On the left, a man with a mullet hairstyle and glasses is shown from the chest up. He is shirtless and has a very muscular physique. On his chest, the name "CATASCO" is written in a black, stylized font. He is holding a large, complex mechanical device that resembles a futuristic weapon or tool. The device has a long barrel and a conical tip. The background is dark and textured.

THERE'S MORE TO BEING A GREAT LAWYER THAN YOUR GPA.

Within our firm you'll find lawyers who've closed billion-dollar deals, represented Prime Ministers and argued precedent-setting cases before the Supreme Court. You'll also discover adventurers, marathoners and humanitarians. Every year, through our summer and articling programs, we seek out students who, like us, have both a passion for legal success and a desire to push themselves to their limit. We're not just looking for exceptional lawyers, we're looking for exceptional people.

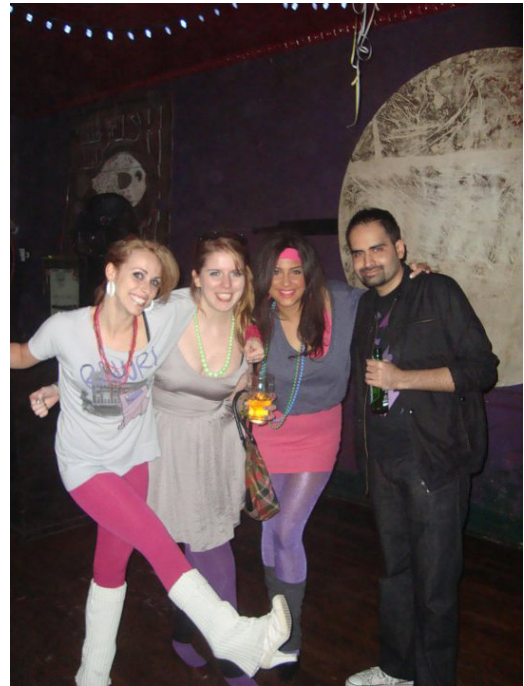

To read our lawyer profiles and to see if BLG is right for you, visit blg.com/student

Calgary | Montréal | Ottawa
Toronto | Vancouver | Waterloo Region
Lawyers | Patent & Trade-mark Agents
Borden Ladner Gervais LLP is an Ontario Limited Liability Partnership.
blg.com

BLG
Borden Ladner Gervais
It begins with service

CONTENTS

2	Our Mission
3	Editorial
5	News
10	Look-a-likes
11	If The Oyez Were...
13	The Future of Windsor Law
14	Games: Windsor Law Jeopardy
16	Thank You For Your Interest in Our Firm: A Letter
18	Windsor Law Tweets
19	Life After Law
21	Boombox
22	Windsor Law Bucket List
25	Classified
26	I Love Windsor: Grad Quotes

2 The Editors Bid You Farewell

30	Alternative Employment Resolutions
31	The New Kids

13 Future of Windsor Law

THE OYEZ

Our Mission

The Oyez is a magazine by law students for law students in the finest tradition of satire and critique. As the only intentionally funny thing about law school, The Oyez is not afraid to expose just how ridiculous the law school experience can be. We aim to please and we are pleased to take aim. You have the rest of your life to be serious, so sit back and have a laugh on us. Check us out online and in colour at www.uwindsor.ca/theoyez.

Our Work Ethic

The Oyez welcomes all student submissions, though it reserves the right not to publish anything banal, offensive, unfunny, or below our entirely subjective B curve. Send articles, ideas, gossip, complaints, news, and nude photos to the new editors sometime before any of our four issues in October, December, February, and April. Join us on Facebook: The Oyez 2010-2011.

Our Editors

Stefanie Pereira -- Ricky Gill -- Rachelle Mitri -- Hayley Gallimore Watson

Our Contributors

Will West* -- Chris Marshall -- Emir Aly Crowne (ne Mohammed)
Bonemachine Kiddo -- Ilan Mints -- Sarah Pentney -- Lindsay Traves -- Ken Bandeira*

AND NOW, A WORD FROM YOUR EDITORS

When routine bites hard,
And ambitions are low,
And resentment rides high,
But emotions won't grow,
And we're changing our ways,
Taking different roads.
Then love, love will tear us apart again.
Love, love will tear us apart again.

The End.

Ricky Gill, Editor

EDITORIAL

It's finally over! 3 long years and now all that stands between us and our articles are two short months. I must say that this end is bittersweet. Of course, I am happy that I will never have to sit through another Tax lecture, or write another Family case comment, or run into my Torts Prof at the club. And I am especially happy to finally be off Anna Decia's mailing list (how many articling opportunities can there really be in the Yukon?!)

But there is so much I will miss about Windsor Law. It was truly the best 3 years of my life. I experienced so many firsts in Windsor... First time I got to live without my parents, first time I got to witness a bathroom stall door being ripped from its hinges, first time I got to attend a Boat Cruise where boys ripped the shirts off the backs of other boys, first time I got to go to a pre-drink and post-drink before and after every event (even when the event started at 5pm). Windsor Law has been the party I never wanted to pass out from... and I owe it all to you... You, my loyal readership and friends.

The Oyez has been a great creative outlet for me and I have enjoyed giving you four days this year on which you could turn off your Facebooks and focus your attention on school-related reading. It truly has been a great ride and I will miss it dearly. Before, I go... I want to wish the new team of editors best of luck in the new year (I secretly hope you guys don't out-do us!). I also want to take this opportunity to thank a few people for their support: My wonderful roommates, Sarah and Cheryl [and adopted roommate Shawn] for putting up with me while I complained about The Oyez --You made it all worthwhile. Ricky, you are so funny, a little inappropriate at times, but without you there would be no Oyez. Dean Elman, thanks for letting us make you the butt of so many jokes... your ability to laugh at yourself is a testament to your commitment to student life. I appreciate your understanding and I hope you remain dean after the current dean search fails (again). Class of 2011, I wish you the very best as you begin your legal careers, I am sure you will find a way to make Windsor proud to have accepted you.

-Stefanie Pereira, Editor-in-chief

Hello again Windsor law!

I hope you have all enjoyed reading about your fellow classmates' shenanigans and your professors' personal lives this year! I know you are all very sad that you will have to wait until next year for another issue of the Oyez but don't worry, if you need your gossip fix you can contact me or any of the new editors for next year's Oyez team during the summer and I'm sure we can conjure up something juicy. That said, I am very pleased to announce that I will continue my current role on the Oyez next year and I am especially pleased to be working with such a great team! Don't worry I made sure that the gossip king himself, Sirius Biniiaz, took a leadership role next year because Stef and Ricky left BIG shoes to fill and who better to fill em ' than the man who is the fly on the wall in every room where two or more law students meet? So not to worry, you are in excellent hands and if you plan on hiding any part of your lives from the student body next year, I offer my sincerest regards. He, alongside Gord Akilie, Lindsay Traves, Chris Marshall and myself promise to bring you more laughter, gossip, and fake news stories than ever before. So make sure you stay tuned next year, same time, same place, FRESH law 1's to pick on. Well we gotta find something to talk about now that half of the pages will be free from Max and Paul spoofs!

Best of luck on exams and enjoy your summer!! (p.s. WARNING: don't let me catch you picking your wedgie at any King street bars during happy hour, cuz you know I will still have my camera on hand looking for material for next year)

XOXO- gossip girl ;)

Rachelle Mitri

The editors of the Oyez begged me to take over this year. And while I wish Stef and Ricky only the best, sadly it is not to be. For, in 4 months time I leave for France to continue my schooling. Giving up the Oyez in order to study in the most beautiful country in the world was truly a difficult decision. I wrestled with it for months, wondering if I could live without openly mocking my friends and teachers in the second finest mock magazine in Essex County. But to France I must go. I leave you all in the capable hands of Gord, Sirius, and Rachelle who will most certainly entertain some of you, and offend most of you so that they consistently end up in Dean Waters' office. But I know dear friends, that one evening while I sit in a cafe, sipping a 2003 Bordeaux and nibbling on a fresh baguette as my French boyfriend (I think his name shall be...Pierre) whispers sweet nothings in my ear, I will sigh wistfully and wonder "What is the Oyez making fun of now?"

Au Revoir!

-H.G. Watson

NEWS

Social Justice Student Worries He Might Be A Right Wing Bay Streeter

Jonathan Borrelli, L3, was your average social justice student who attended protests and watched human rights films during his lunch break. However, recently he has been experiencing uncontrollable urges to profit off the misfortunes of others, leaving him concerned that he might secretly be a right wing bay streeter at heart.

“Helping people is for Doctors. I am going to be a Lawyer!” -Jonathan Borelli

“I don’t know what has happened to me” reported a confused Jonathan. “It’s like sometimes I get these weird urges to vote for Stephen Harper and work 70 hours a week for a corporate law firm. Just the thought of mergers & acquisitions turns me on.”

Jonathan has been a social activist since the tender age of 14, but he began to suspect he was changing when he started to get an odd stirring in his stomach everytime he attended Kanieff’s secured transaction lectures.

“I have no idea who I am anymore” the scared third year law student reported. “Keeping this secret from my left wing law school friends, is tearing me up inside.”

According to Jon, his first experience with the corporate world was when he took business associations last year. “I was just experimenting, I didn’t know what classes to take. But now, everytime I read a case where a corporation is able to screw over the little guy, I get strangely titillated.” But it’s ok Jon! On the bright side, career services will do everything they can to get you that big Bay Street job... after all it is their mandate to focus on students with a passion for high-paying jobs.

Mr. and Mrs. Fish

After being overlooked as “the couple who have yet to find each other” at this year’s Grad Awards, Matt Fish and Brittany Fish have finally tied the knot. The two travelled

“Hey, you like Fish Sticks?”
--Matt Fish

to Timmins for a romantic ceremony in the wilderness with their closest friends and family. The newlyweds now look forward to starting their own firm, but are looking for a third Partner to help get things off the ground. Rosa Yi, L3, is rumoured to be in negotiations about joining the Partnership to create Fish Yi Lawyers. The Fish’s have also been communicating with Associate Dean Waters about a merger with Rosa to form Fish Yi Waters LLP. Oyez editor, Ricky Gill was approached but decided to turn down the offer to co-found Fish and Fish Gill LLP. When asked about the Fish's, Gill responded, "They are slimy, stinky, and wet. I prefer to start a firm with a good Salmon instead, Jon Solomon that is!"

O'Brien Hates Hipsters

Ol'Man O'Brien is at it again

At Spring Formal, Mike made the beef public when he blurted a blasphemous comment about Hipsters. Ricky was slightly offended but kept his composure in front of his peers (he can't, after all, let anyone know he considers himself a hipster). Mike would draw a few laughs from the crowd (mostly from Kristen and Dean Elman), but it was The Oyez that would have the last laugh. Little did he know, as he was making the comment, 6 photos of non-law school hipsters graced the screen behind him. The Oyez always wins!

Joke is on you O'Brien!
Do these look like law students to you?!

S.N.A.I.L.S. Caught on Tape

Now we know the real reason why a page was ripped out of a book in 2008... clean up!

Alex Atkinson, L2, had the rare privilege of catching S.N.A.I.L.S. on film this past week. "I had never really seen one before... so I was caught a little off guard. I was especially surprised to find them mating under one of the tables in the Quiet Zone of the Paul Martin Library." Five minutes before this photo was taken, Waheeda Smith overheard the S.N.A.I.L.S. reading poetic passages from Mohammed's "Essential guide to Mooting" to each other.

Damage Control

In an effort to maintain professionalism at Windsor Law, Dean Waters has begun sending out apology emails to the student body BEFORE events. When asked about the advance apology system, Dean Waters said "It's just easier to assume someone is going to say something stupid rather than wait for them to do it. The class of 2011 is reliably inappropriate and it just saves me all the hassle of having to deal with the complaints later! If only I could have anticipated that all the girls would steal the centerpieces at Formal, I would have thrown that into the apology too. But who can blame them?"

Those centerpieces were fantastic. Anneke is never going to want to return ours!"

Less is More

SLS Faculty Awards were handed out at Spring Formal last month. Marcela Aroca won for best shoes, David Tanovich won for hardest exam, and “We love Gemma! But don’t let that sweet face fool you, she is a ruthless moot coach. She made us cry.”

-The Client Counseling Competition

Gemma Smyth won for coolest prof. But to everyone’s surprise, none of them gave a thank you speech. Tano, who was awarded first, just ran up to the stage and grabbed the award and Gemma didn’t even get up, she had it passed back to her. When Tano was asked why he didn’t say a few words, he said, “After last year’s formal, the faculty implemented a strict ‘No Speech’ policy. We realize that it is unreasonable to expect Windsor Law students to focus for more than 5 minutes at events with Toonie bars.” Professor Aroca added, “I just wanted to speed things up to get to the afterparty. Dean Elman was hosting a kegger at his Riversidemansion immediately following the Formal dinner.”

Brian Burke Sells Out the Moot Court

The 08-09 Speakers Committee thought they hit it big when they got Paul Martin to visit Windsor Law. But this year, Speakers Committee one-upped them when they were able to convince Brian Burke into coming to speak at our school. The event sold out in a matter of minutes,

“Hey Sab, we should totally go to that lecture today... there is going to be, like, 200 guys there.” -Kasia Kosacka with eager students from all over campus begging Rob Onley to get on the guestlist.

Burke, who showed up 40 minutes late and looking like he had just spent a 38 hour flight partying with Charlie Sheen, impressed the crowd with his perfect balance of arrogance and pugnacity. His success story was one that every fantasy hockey manager dreams of.

Burke went on to crush the dreams of many law students (mostly Dan Lester and Shawn Goldmintz) when he told everyone to give up the hope of turning their fantasy league into a reality. Burke told the crowd, “Sports management is a tough business to get into. To make it you have to be awesome like me...so give up now, because if you were awesome you would have gone to Harvard.” The crowd loved every minute.

Burke became unimpressed with Windsor as several nervous students began every sentence with “I have a question” leaving the rest of the crowd wondering, what happened to the pre-authorized question system we were warned about in the emails?

Burke was given a fancy open bar reception after the lecture and a nice parting gift which included an offer to become Dean of Windsor. He became incensed and stormed out of the building.

Student Actually Thinks She Can Balance Work and Life

Amanda Ramkisson, L3,

actually expects to balance work and life when she starts her articles in Toronto this summer. Despite possessing a fully functioning brain, Amanda remains convinced it is possible.

“It’s like she thinks she won’t

“There are no Snow days on Bay Street!” -Jenna C

be working 80 hours a week and weekends” friend Jenna Chandani said of Ramkissoon. Jenna has reported to the Oyez that Amanda has not been diagnosed with a mental disease and has not been abusing drugs.

Sources have confirmed to The Oyez that over the last three years, Amanda has been told by numerous graduating students how their social lives have been destroyed by soul sucking Bay Street firms. Even with this knowledge, Amanda still believes that she will be able to work 40 hours a week and take the occasional Friday off.

“Is she friggin nuts? She realizes she is articling in Toronto right?!” reported long time friend and former Windsor law student Arun Krishnamurti. “I have to bring my sleeping bag and tooth brush in case I have to stay overnight at my firm. I wish I could go back and be a delusional third year again.”

Professor Howard to Publish Pedagogical Book on Everything he has Learned From the Movies

Popular Windsor Law professor and area practitioner, Paul Howard, recently announced the publication of his newest book, “Don’t Go in There! Life Lessons for Law Students From Popular Cinema”.

“Law students have no idea what the hell they are doing in the real world,” Howard told this Oyez reporter, “and what better medium than cinema to impart these lessons?”

Chapters in his book include “There’s no crying in baseball (or litigating)!”, “Don’t feed the legal assistants after midnight”, and “With a great amount of billable hours comes great responsibility.” Howard’s book will be available at the Windsor campus bookstore. Signed copies will be sold out of the trunk of his car for a mere $50 above the cover price.

Diane Pastorius is on the G.O.

After decades of service, Windsor Law’s beloved Diane Pastorius is finally retiring. “Diane will be missed,” reported long time friend and boss, Dean Elman. “She was a joy to work with and I can’t believe she is leaving us,” added G.O. co-worker, Cathy Milec.

When asked what Diane had planned for her retirement, she told The Oyez, she plans on releasing a tell-all book about her time at Windsor Law, called “A Woman on the G.O.: Tales of the General Office.” In the book I reveal some of the G.O.’s best kept secrets,” Diane told The Oyez. Apparently, the ladies in the G.O. have been having a laugh at the expense of Windsor students. Diane reveals in her book that Virginia Obierski loves to put A2J students’ mail in the Commercial Law students’ mailboxes and vice versa. Diane also reveals that Sandra Stein loves to overbook classrooms on purpose because she thinks it’s funny when professors don’t know where to take their class. Diane also reveals that she has been the one writing the music reviews in The Oyez this year... she IS BoneMachine Kiddo.

When asked how she thinks Windsor Law will receive the book, Diane says, "I don't really care. I am leaving and I am never looking back." Well, Diane, hopefully the book doesn't tarnish the great reputation you have established for yourself in all your years at Windsor Law. On behalf of your friends at the G.O., all faculty, staff, and students, we wish you the very best in the future. You will be missed!

Windsor is Winning

To the surprise of U of T and Osgoode, Windsor Law is becoming one of the best schools in the province! "Windsor Law is dominating on all fronts," reports Revenue Generation's, Karen Momotiuk. Windsor Law students have been scoring some of the most coveted OCI's, articling positions, and clerkships. "More and more, Windsor students are becoming the first choice for employers in London, Toronto, and Ottawa" said Anna Decia.

Windsor Law is also making a name for itself in the mooting world. This year, Windsor Law has managed to win more competitive moots than ever before. "Windsor has been winning all over the place: Niagara, Sopinka, Arnup, Bowman's Tax Moot-- just to name a few" explained Dean Waters. "We used to be happy when we found out we were competing against Windsor Law, but now we do anything to avoid Windsor," said an anonymous U of T student. "Windsor is THE school nowadays. I just don't get it... how is Windsor good at every subject?!" complained one Queen's student.

WINDSOR 4 LYFE YO

Andrea MacGillivray, recent winner of the Dean's Achievement Award in Traditional Advocacy (tied with Kristen Reiss) told The Oyez that the secret to Windsor's success was our ability to multi-task partying with studying. "We play hard and we work hard" said Andrea. Congratulations Windsor Law!

L1's Want More Work

The Social Committee has reported a record low attendance rate at social events among L1's this year. Sirius tells The Oyez, "we assume it's because they are swamped with work." But a recent study has reported that L1's are actually unsatisfied with the amount of work in first year law.

L1 is too easy!

"We were told it was going to be challenging, then we find out we only have 6 courses!" said Michael Lee. "I only have 600 pages of reading to do a week. It's crazy! As if I am ever going to learn all there is to know about P.O.G.G. reading only 600 pages a week" complained Alyse Lauren. Stephanie Romano told The Oyez, "I pay a lot of good money to come to this school and I expect a full day of classes everyday! I hate it when Profs cancel classes...and Fridays off?? Is this a joke?" Diana Tebby has even begun petitioning the Dean for a mandatory 30 page minimum for all factums. She says, "Profs shouldn't be trying to get out of reading lengthy papers. 8-10 page papers just aren't fair to anyone!"

The Oyez suggests that the L1s stop obsessing over workload... because it only gets better!

Look-a-Likes!

<-Yannick Katirai vs. Dean Waters
They made it impossible to concentrate in Windsor's 2008 Contracts class!

John Weir vs. Brian Cox ->
(Stryker, X2)

One hates X-men and the other one hates tax evasion.

Kamila Podbielski vs.
Hayley Mirinsky

There's been a long standing battle between good and evil. It looks like Josh Rosen is drifting to the Dark Side.

Sabrina Fiacco
vs.
Sarah Pentney

Short, cute brunettes.

Their Mom's can't tell them apart? Can you?

IF THE OYEZ...

If the Oyez were a holiday, it would totally be St. Patrick's Day. But the Oyez's potatoes would never taste as good as John Brennan's potatoes.

•• If the Oyez were Dean for a day, it would make funny jokes at Faculty Council.

•• If If the Oyez were a Dean Search Committee, it would never fail.

• If the Oyez were the
• General Office, it would always look busy too.

•• If the Oyez were a course, it would be legal research and writing during the months of March & April.

•• If the Oyez were a Professor, it would be Professor Mohammed and get invited to all the first year parties too.

•• If the Oyez were Max Munoz, it would just be a series of blank pages and people would still read it. The cover would look great and be called La Oyez de la Hoya.

•• If the Oyez were case law it would be something written by Lord Denning.

•• If the Oyez were a recipe for a judge, it would be one cup Pomerance, two tablespoons of Sharlow & Cronk, sprinkled with some Abella & McLachlin.

-
- If the Oyez were edited by Charlie Sheen it would have Tano Blood and Elman DNA.
-
- If the Oyez were edited by Charlie Sheen it would also be full of cartoons... and true to Mark Loya's legacy.
- If the Oyez was a first year course, it would be A2J (because, either way, Law 1's don't understand most of the material).
-
- If the Oyez were a court, it would be the Court Martial Appeal Court of Canada, because it sounds important (but really doesn't have that much work to do).
- If the Oyez were the Vagina Monologues, it would never fake it (even if it did, how would you know?).
-
-
- If the Oyez were pulled over by police, it too would be beaten & profiled.
-
- If the Oyez were a moot, you'd never win
- If the Oyez were a student, it would be Phil Dias, because it "likes" everything and always gets the last word.
-
- If the Oyez were an Osgoode student, it wouldn't look as good, or be as much fun.
-
- If the Oyez was a computer, it would be repaired by Gary Fung!

"Did she just do the machine gun moan? I love that one!" --Justice P supporting the Vag Mono's in February

Phil Dias like this

THE FUTURE OF WINDSOR LAW

Ronnie Davidzon comes out of the social justice closet in 2013 and realizes he has secretly loved A2J all along. He becomes Jacob's assistant and together they revolutionize the course and actually make it interesting for LIs.

Luke Weiler goes on to update his FB status every other day about how much he misses Windsor. He quits his articles in Guelph within the first 5 months to move back to Windsor and work for Ducharme.

John Brennan goes on to crack under the pressure of private practice in 2017. He ends up at the London psychiatric ward. Cara still visits him on weekends.

Bhavin breaks down and eats a hot dog. He throws up and immediately writes a letter to PETA to apologize for his sins.

The Oyez shuts down in September of 2011 after no one submits anything.

Damien Van Vroenhoven goes on to write and direct a hit TV series. The courtroom drama airs on CBC and actually makes it past two episodes.

Martina Dwyer went on to open her own firm/beauty enhancement salon. She offers botox injections with every consultation.

Chris Heron went on to replace Vin Diesel in Fast and Furious 6: Legally Fast, Illegally Furious.

Dean Elman remains dean for six more terms because selection committee still can't find a suitable replacement.

After developing an impressive Fantasy hockey league resume, Shawn Goldmintz replaces Brian Burke as Leafs GM in 2016. Still no Cup since '67.

Christina Sgro wins Lotto 6/49, buys the Art Gallery of Ontario and appoints herself Director of Operations. Some dreams do come true.

Promo left Windsor to become Bencher. When he realized he had to work more than 8 hours a week, he quit and tried to come back to Windsor. Windsor refuses him and he has no choice but to become JGVH's personal assistant.

Hubert Leung goes on to work at a prestigious Toronto firm. In 2014, he approaches the senior partner to have his Tennis club funded by the firm. He is denied funding and is sent to the mailroom for a week.

Windsor Law

PROFS

STUDENTS

EVENTS

100

Removes his original posts because he is concerned that they aren't funny and replaces them with ones that are more thought-out

Yoga Guru

The only event where orgasms were heard BEFORE leaving the bar.

200

No longer accepts questions in Business Associations for fear of being proven wrong

L3, Often confused for L2, Mike O'Brien.

The most delicious tater-tots were served ... but only half the grads were lucky enough to taste them

300

Teaches Feminist Legal Theory

SLS was proud to call her President in 2010-2011

Featured a romantic kiss between a studmuffin and an Outlaw

400

Lovable mumbler

These hardworking students think people know who they are

Crushed the hopes and dreams of so many second years

500

Waits 2 months to hand back assignments to first year students

Lawyer by day, Bar Back by night

The Smurfs, Curious George, A RugRat, and Mario and Luigi were in attendance

Jeopardy

PLACES

COURSES

ANSWERS

100

Home to the life-sized Ocheje doll.

Rules for dollars

PROFS

100: Mohammed
200: Weir
300: Eansor
400: Menezes
500: Kuttner

200

Tuesday night wing deal
(Sandwich Town)

Should be called "I love unions 101"

STUDENTS

100: Puja Inamdar
200: Jon Solomon
300: Melissa Wright
400: Dual JDs
500: Miguel Wonham

300

Guaranteed to get you laid/exploited.

Conklin stopped teaching this class after widespread confusion
among first years

EVENTS

100: Vagina Monologues
200: Grad Lunch
300: Grad Awards
400: OCIs
500: Halloween Havoc

400

Students meet here at 4am
on Fridays and Saturdays

During this class you can find 90% of L1s on FB, and the other 10% are just skipping

PLACES

100: SLS office
200: Rock Bottom
300: Voodoo
400: Shwarma Palace
500: Revenue Generation Office

500

Hidden in the back of the Career Services office

Tanovich famously used an issue of the Oyez in teaching this class

COURSES

100: Civil Procedure
200: Labour with Wilson
300: Constitution
400: A2J
500: Evidence

We Thank You for Your Interest in Our Firm...

• • • • • a letter • • • • •

Dear lawyers and administrative assistants at the various law firms and government offices to which I have applied:

Guys, thanks for sending me the letters about my “interest” in your summer student position. I’m so glad you appreciate that I took the time out of my busy study schedule to call references and write all new cover letters. Not to mention coughing up $20 a pop to courier you my application since you’re still in the stone age and don’t accept emails.

I kind of figured when I didn’t get a phone call and all my friends had interviews that I had been dropped from consideration. Sure, I may have entertained fantasies that you’d call me up hours before the interview, like a minor leaguer getting called up for their shot at the big time, but realistically I knew my mediocre grades and lacklustre extra-curriculars were going to keep me away from all the prime jobs.

“Together we can take these letters and donate them to law students from U of T who have never seen one before. Together we can write on the envelopes “RETURN TO SENDER” and teach them, we will not be rejected...ANYMORE!!!!!!!!!!”

--Dj Pauly G at his “One Day You’ll Make It Too” lecture sponsored by Career Services.

But was sending me a letter in the mail, weeks after the interviews had already happened, informing me that you would unfortunately not be “able to offer an interview at this time” really necessary? If that isn’t the definition of rubbing salt in a wound, I don’t know what is! I get it really; I am not smart enough, nor accomplished enough, to rub shoulders with all of you clever, salaried types. I know I should just settle on a career at “Murray’s House of Law: 2 for 1 Divorces before 6 PM on Thursdays!”

But it’s ok guys, really. The honest truth is that I didn’t really want to work at your firm anyways. I didn’t want to be paid $900 a week, or get health benefits.

I didn't want to discuss vacation condos with Pam from the litigation group, or go for power lunches with Bill the partner. I don't care if I'll be sitting on $80 000 of debt until I am 80 years old. I don't care.

And thank you, truly, from the bottom of my heart, for putting that last nail in the coffin of my career. I wish you all the luck in your continuing business, which I'm sure will be booming since a Neanderthal like me won't be working there.

In closing, next time you feel like "letting me down gently" with a PFO letter, DON'T BOTHER. I don't need my parents looking at me with disappointment everytime I get mail.

Sincerely,

Windsor Law student

sign on with Blakes

Where great work and great people come together.

MONTREAL OTTAWA TORONTO CALGARY VANCOUVER NEW YORK CHICAGO LONDON BAHRAIN ALKHOBAR* BEIJING SHANGHAI* blakes.com
*Associated Office Blake, Cassels & Graydon LLP

WINDSOR LAW TWEETS

@Union4lyfe (Professor Wilson)

The Charter only protects nazis and criminals #usucktrudeau

@DeanElman

[March 2010] Can't wait to leave in April! Woohoo, U of T and free Diet Coke here I come!

@Carasco

[March 2010] @DeanElman ORLY? LOL LOL LOL JKS

@ProMo

White suit on! Looking ballin'. Can't wait to hit Rock Bottom to show off my bling. My torts mid-term is made of #tigerblood. WINNING.

Friggin' @JGVH, I've treated him like a son. How does he have more twitter followers than me?

@DeanWaters

#FF my wife! @Anneke, ilu boo!

@Anneke

@DeanWaters Stop tweeting at me dear.

LAL- Life After Law II

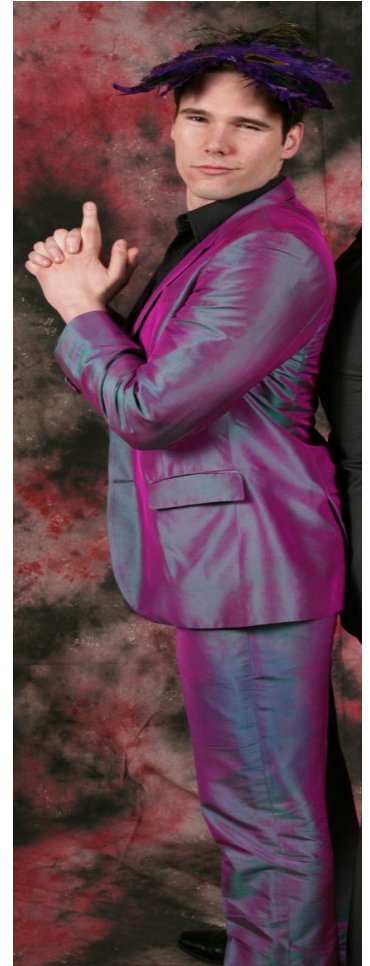

Just think, in a few short weeks, the class of 2013 will be able to breathe a collective sigh of relief for grinding through the first year of law school (a.k.a. academic boot camp). But while you're sobering up on the 21st (unless you're one of the lucky few in Professor McCarney's class), you might be thinking about what life after law 1 has in store for you. But wonder no more! I've done the research and I have broken down your options into four convenient categories.

1 SLAVE TO THE LAW

First is the group of our peers who we we're all secretly jealous of, but still try to sit next to in class, the 'Rock Stars'. These people are the few who will be working for law firms this summer. Not much needs to be said about this group. Like Charlie Sheen, they are "winning". They will likely still be ahead of us next year when they get invited back for the summer of L2 and then again to article. Lucky bastards never have to get an A again!

2 BUSY BEE

Next is a category coined the 'Adventure Briefs'. This is an umbrella group that includes anyone going on an exchange, working abroad, biking for cancer, building wells in Africa, saving animals from an oil spill, or robbing from the rich and giving to the poor. This group should be commended. Since we all know that this might be our last summer in a whi - well ever - it's great to see people doing something incredible. If people don't know what they want to do this summer, DON'T join the army, go climb a mountain. Of course, when it comes to getting a job in the legal profession that pays, these people will find themselves getting nothing but rejections from all litigation firms. They see humanitarian interests on your CV, and they think: this candidate would be a terrible fit for us! We would never do Pro Bono and the insurance companies we defend wouldn't approve of all this good-doing. Solution: Work at McDonald's for a couple weeks, nothing will make you want to help people less. (see #3)

I'm holding a fundraiser at Rock Bottom... I am going abroad to design exotic suits for the courtroom. Come give me your money... You did it for Steph Fest.... you can do it for me too.

DON'T QUIT YOUR DAY JOB

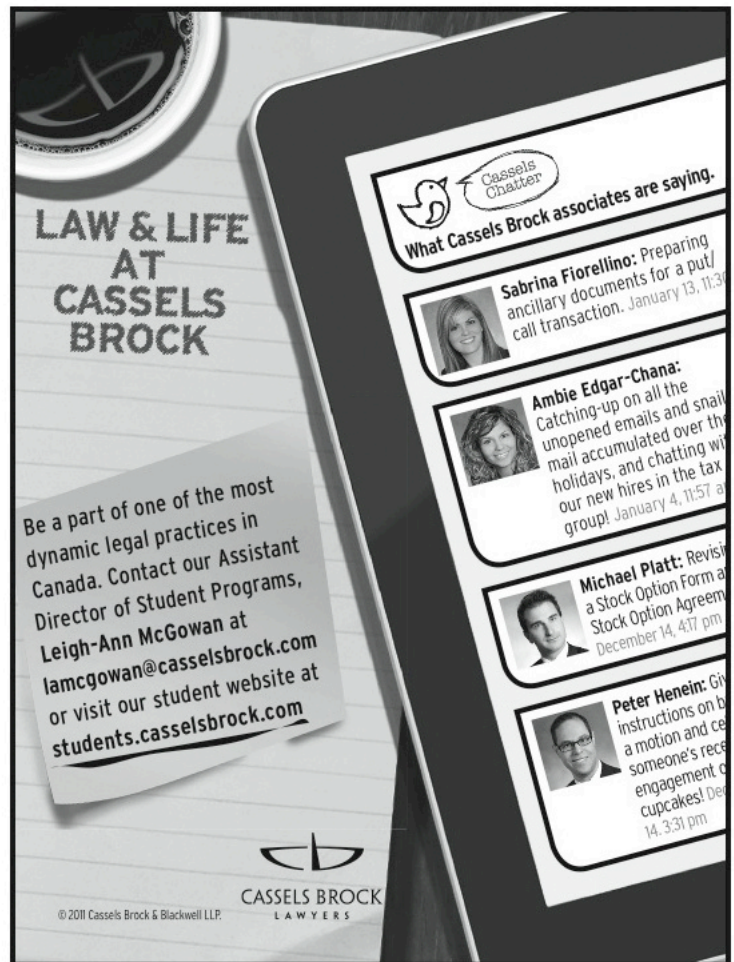

The staff at the Oyez have come to the conclusion that the bulk of Law 1 students will end up in the 'Reversion Group'. Anyone going back to an old job at Gymboree, the Gap, Camp Kandalore, or Boston Pizza, this is the group for you. I know we all came to law school so that we wouldn't have to ask people if they want fries with that, but one more summer slingin' won't kill you. After all, what choice do you really have?! You bombed Contracts and you have OSAP debts to pay. Just remember to keep telling yourself "I love my job, I love my job, I love my job."

NO MORE BOOKS

The last group is 'Team Habeas Corpus'. This group interpreted being released from unlawful detention by defining Law 1 as the unlawful detention, and rightfully so. Your freedoms are limited, you have a cellmate (read: roommate) and by the end of the year the Paul Martin Library truly feels like a prison. The members of Team HC have decided to take the summer off. The only work you plan on doing is the Suduko puzzles in the Sunday paper and more power to yah! I wish I had your line of credit or a girlfriend that doesn't mind taking the bus!

Every student you know fits into one of these categories, and it's likely that you fit into one yourself. Just remember, Habeas Corpus is jealous of the Reversion Group, the Reversion Group is jealous of the Rock Stars, the Rock Stars are jealous of the Adventure Briefs, and EVERYONE is jealous of Team Habeas Corpus! See there is no right option. And if worse comes to worst, Professor Kuttner is looking for a Research Assistant.

BOOMBOX

NAME: ODD FUTURE (OFWGKTA)

ALBUM: None (EP only)

Rating: 5 Booms out of 5

So how does one begin to tell others about one of the most remarkable things he's ever heard? You need to hear them if you haven't already, especially if you're a hip hop fan. The bar has officially been raised. This is a collective of young, angry, nihilist, black skater kids. They rap with a darkness and abandon usually reserved for the most hard core of metal or punk bands. They're a group of seven kids ranging from 16 (Earl, who, as the youngest, is probably the most impressive.) to 22. Their flow is unapproached in ability and the lyricism is so dark that the danger is palpable. The beats are minimalistic and hold such a deep and dark menace, it's difficult to describe. Eminem becomes irrelevant. Their live shows are becoming known for danger. Tyler the Creator, is known for whipping water bottles directly into the crowds and, on more than one occasion, breaking noses. Songs about murder, drugs, blasphemy and all-around apathy for all things human. What do we call this? Horror rap? Nihilist hip hop? Hardcore? I don't know, but these guys are changing the game. Mark my words they will be changing the face of popular culture, something this far past the lines of normalcy always does. They are part of a larger group known as OFWGKTA, which stands for Odd Future Wolf Gang Kill Them All. Trust me, they need a name that serious just so you have an idea of what you're dealing with. Now they don't have any official albums yet, but the four or five EP's are worth getting, especially "Earl", "Bastard", and "Radical." But, what you need to do immediately is Youtube a few things: Search OFWGKTA or Odd Future and just immerse. You can thank me later. Let me suggest a few, start with their television debut on the Jimmy Fallon show, so you get an idea of the fire and energy these guys are doling out. Then watch them in the song titled "Earl", where you get an idea for this kid's ability and a video that shows them roaming the city while taking apart their bodies. These guys have taken every bloated, vapid part of hip hop that's turned off so many for so long and brought it to its purest dangerous sense again. So the future is coming and it's odd.

-BONEMACHINE KIDDO

WARNING: This recommendation is not for the easily offended or politically correct. These rappers make Eminem look like Justin Bieber.

WINDSOR LAW

BUCKETLIST

The Oyez has been working for weeks, interviewing L3's non-stop (ok, maybe we just asked my roommates last night), to compile a list of the 50 things you MUST do before your time is up at Windsor Law. Make this your official guide to getting the most out of your law school experience.

- 1) Go to Detroit: shop at Somerset, have dinner in Mexican Town, experience art at the DIA
- 2) Lie about how much you spent at the border (see #1)
- 3) Go to Faces on a Wednesday
- 4) Get a free sandwich from lunchlady Doris (winks help)
- 5) Go to the Lumberjack Diner and have Happy Birthday played to you
- 6) Climb to the top of that weird jungle-gym in the upper pit
- 7) See Mary Mitchell IN PERSON
- 8) Secretly date an undergrad (refer to point #3 for where to find these care-free youths)
- 9) Take a school bus over the border and pee in it (where is up to you!)
- 10) Go to the corner of Broadway and Sandwich. Honestly, just googlemap it
- 11) Get a picture taken with that fellow who wears the long-feathered fedora and is always seen walking around Ouellette
- 12) Marry him (refer to #11)
- 13) Divorce him and claim custody of the Fedora in the divorce pleadings
- 14) Near-death experience in sandwich down: the burritos are best enjoyed by their aroma, NOT consumption.
- 15) Take a photo on a an obvious backdrop at formal (where was Jack when we needed him????!!!) --> -->

- 16) Make Windsor Law proud, win a Moot!
- 17) Judge a First Year Moot
- 18) Take a Friday morning class
- 18.5) Complain about Friday morning classes at every Thursday night Social event.
- 19) get free hugs from Jonathan Hendricks on the daily even though the only thing you know about him is that he's friendly
- 20) Volunteer at Downtown Mission

- 21) Get knocked out at Law Games..... and Faces (With hard work and a great attitude, anything is possible)
- 22) Run for SLS
- 23) Submit an article to The Oyez
- 24) Make an L1 cry (see #17)
- 25) Sell your body for a good cause (See: Vagina Monologues and ask about the bob auction)
- 26) Eat a shawarma drunk at 3am
- 27) Lose a shirt at the boat cruise
- 28) Lick the Cheetah's pole
- 28.5) finally use that health insurance you forgot to opt out of by getting checked out after licking the Cheetah's pole
- 29) Get a bowling ball thrown at your face.. at least you'll get to keep the bowling ball.
- 30) Skip a full week of classes before and after reading week (every Law 3 knows this is what 3rd year is all about)
- 31) Dance on top of the bar at Voodoo
- 32) Eat breakfast at Ferrary's after 3 am, but never between the hours of 5am and midnight.

Some of us were just born to litigate. If you want to attend trials, appeals, motions, and arbitrations make sure you apply to Lenczner Slaght. We are Toronto's premier litigation firm. Do your due diligence on our website.

SEE YOU IN COURT

LENCZNER SLAGHT

litigate.com

33) Hand in an entire assignment that is a collaboration of bits from all of your friends' assignments, and get an A
 34) Get free drinks from the dreamy bartender at the Loft (winks help)
 35) Have fun at the Loft (alcohol helps)
 36) Win best costume at the Halloween party
 37) Accept the invite to Yoga With Puja.
 Never go.

38) Get caffeine shakes from 3 consecutive "Beanieo's" at the Green Bean

39) Talk about your vagina in front of Justice Pomerance

40) Talk to Dean Elman for more than 10 seconds (he's a great guy!)

41) Get trashed and break a door at the carbolic smoke ball

42) Dance so hard at Formal your legs hurt the next day

43) Party with the Outlaws

44) Get the Fall/Winter In-Course Bursary and spend it on reading week

45) Never write anything for the Oyez... then complain about The Oyez

46) Get Bombed at an evening guest speaker event with open bar reception

47) See a movie on Cheap Tuesday at Devonshire with 34 of your closest law school friends

48) Stop being friends with someone because they got the job you wanted

49) Enjoy a meal at California Sushi, Flying Tiger, and Spago's at least once

50) Meet someone special --> -->

46.5) Make the movie The Hangover look like child's play

WINDSOR LAW CLASSIFIEDS

SERVICES

WANTED someone to convince the Admissions Committee to let me transfer to Windsor Law. Call Osgoode Student 519-555-7816

SELLING illegal kung fu software. Call Norm 519-555-999

WANTED information on how Windsor squirrels got to be so big. Why are they so vicious? How do I protect my garbage can from them? Call Steve 519-555-5768

WANTED a new basketball team that doesn't suck. Call Natasha 519-555-4343

LOOKING for feedback on Moots. Call Promo's Torts students.

WANTED a break in James' class. Call JR students 510-555-0009

PROPERTY

WANTED 3brdm apartment in Toronto fit for 3 young men. must be near Club District. Text Max, Paul, and Todd 416-555-6745

WANTED home in Guelph. Must allow cats and have bicycle parking. Vegan landlord is a must. Call Luke 905-555-7869

WANTED home near Varj. Call Emir 519-555-0909

SELLING law textbooks. Never been opened. Perfect condition. Call Jasmin 416-555-3311

WANTED private parking garage at the law school for bicycles. Call Chris Waters 519-000-5555

CLUBS/COMMITTEES

WANTED budgets to be honoured from first semester. Call any SLS club.

WANTED club to back my factum without any challenge or discussion. Must agree to everything. Call Emir 519-555-6767

WANTED students to attend events without pizza. Call Women and the Law.

SELLING videos of Stefanie Pereira moaning on stage. Satisfaction guaranteed. Call Monique, Nisha, and Maddy 519-666-6666

SELLING old tickets to Tigers' baseball game. Still trying to pay back SLS. Call Social Orientation 519-444-3434

WANTED Fifa club ratification. Sign our petition! Call Will and Scott 519-555-2020

EMPLOYMENT

WANTED student researcher. Must have been profiled by the police. Call Tano 519-888-9999

WANTED student researcher. Must like golf and be able to speak in abbreviations. Call Weir 519-555-1111

WANTED secretary who is ok with being overworked and underpaid. Must be able to grade 100+ papers, respond to all emails, and photocopy. If you expect to be paid proportionately to the amount of work you do, need not apply. Call Windsor Law for more details.

WANTED someone to clean my room so girls actually want to come over. Call Ricky 416-555-3333

WANTED firm with flexible hours, goodlooking partners, and a discount at Gucci. Call Rosie 519-555-2222

WANTED career services to give me information on jobs outside of Toronto. Call Ottawa students 613-555-7676

WANTED security personnel to protect me from annoying committee members. Call JB 519-898-9999

I ♥ Windsor!!!

The Class of 2011 Tells The Oyez What They Will Miss Most

"I'm going to miss beating Will 6-1 in FIFA11"
-Anthony Andreopoulos

"I am going to miss picking up first year girls...
Actually I'm still going to do that" -Paul Guaragna

"I am also going to miss buying everyone drinks at social events...then forgetting about it and wondering where all my money went when I wake up in the morning"

- Gerry Grossi

"I am going to miss my Jersday parties"
-Danielle DeBartolo

"I won't..." -Ana Danaj

"I am going to miss having such a large number of people to dislike and make fun of... little do you know, but I have had The Oyez's ear this whole time!" -Ilan Mints

"I am going to miss blocking the handicap entrance with a cloud of smoke" -Vlatko Karadzic

"I'm NOT going to miss smiling at people I don't like. I'm not kidding, my face really hurts sometimes after a full day of school." -Phil Stiles

"I am going to miss preying on naive L2's" -Kristen Riess

"Me too" -Pamela Grace

"I am going to miss going to the Loft on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday"
<-Maria, Ashley, Thusha, Melissa, and Veronika

"I AM GOING TO MISS HAVING COMMITTEE MEMBERS CALLING ME AT 4AM TO ASK IF THEY CAN BORROW THE CASH BOX"

- JOHN BRENNAN

"I am going to miss playing pranks on Ricky and Will. Nothing will ever give me joy like watching them cruise the streets of Windsor looking for the people who 'egged' their house" -Cheryl De Los Santos

"I am going to miss kissing Sirius on the cheeks. I'm also going to miss looking normal by living with Grossi and Fish"

-Matt Badrov

"I'm gonna miss letting my hairless pussycats run wild in Windsor"

-Al Walsh

"I am going to miss living in a city where being Latino is exotic and sexy."

-Max Munoz

"I am going to miss being in Windsor where people think I am Latino." -Ricky Gill

"I'm going to miss looking normal compared to Grossi and Badrov. And the Profs. They were great!" -Matt Fish

"I'm going to miss my VIP booth reservation at Leopards"

-Jason Brown

"I'm going to miss having the 401 between me and my parents."

-Stefanie Pereira

"Oh my god, like, I am going to miss, like, everything. Except for Ricky." -Jenna C

"I am going to miss.. Nothing! See ya later suckers!

Ottawa, here I come. Go Sens Go!"

-Sarah Pentney

"I am going to miss Chris Heron." -Morgan Koch

"I am going to miss listening to the relentless clicking of aggressive typist drones in large sterile lecture halls." -David Shulman

"I'm going to miss fighting for plugs in the ground floor classrooms."
-Basia Walancik

"I am going to miss Casa De Los Penteira's Ugly Xmas Sweater parties."
-Mike Grantmyre

"I AM GOING TO MISS BEING MEAN TO L1S" -BRANKO

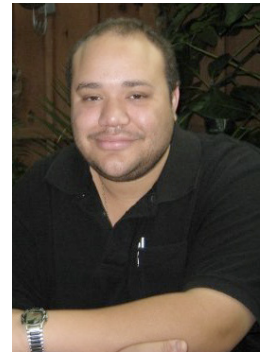

"I am going to miss working twice as hard as the JD's"
-Devin Jarcaig, Dual JD.

"I am going to miss hosting Grad events. I should have been writing for The Oyez."
-Patrick Jocsak

"I am going to miss getting to class late because I had to go to the CAW to grab Tim Horton's coffee even though the Gavel was open and had 78 less people in line."
-Steph Kuehn

"I am going to miss answering every question in class. It was so easy to stand out among a sea of slackers."
-Mike Pierce

2 FOR 1

CANS

*some restrictions apply

Redeem this coupon
for 2 sets of can notes
for the price of 1*

*Accepted by all participating L2 and L3s.

*CJ cans excluded

*Not available for courses taught by Irish, Tanovich, or Wong

*Indexes, past exams, and table of contents are not included in notes redeemed with coupon

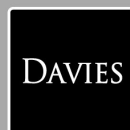

PERFECT PRINTSHOP AD

SUCCESS

At Davies we measure our achievements by one simple standard:
your success.

Interested in joining our team? Visit us at dwpv.com or contact
Frances Mahil at fmahil@dwpv.com

DAVIES WARD PHILLIPS & VINEBERG LLP

AER: Alternative Employment Resolutions

Well, the dream is over. We all hoped we could be students forever, but it's finally time for all of you to face the real world, law degrees in hand. What's that you say? You don't have a job? Don't fret. I am sure you're not the only one who opted to hit The Boom Boom Room instead of applying for OCI's. Fear not, for I have compiled a list of jobs you can do with your law degree, and start tomorrow, no OCI required.

SUPERHERO'S LAWYER

Listen. We all want to be superheroes, and we probably think it takes skill, agility, and all kinds of exciting tools, not to mention a gut-wrenching back story. Not so. Superheroes need lawyers; someone to get them out of trouble when they injure the people they save, or when they break the glass of the burning building they're saving people from. Some bravery, spandex, and a law degree are really all you need.

IRON CHEF JUDGE

Pay attention, returning judges on the culinary battlefield include Jeffrey Steingarten, and Donatella... both Harvard educated lawyers. If they couldn't get jobs, what chance do you have? And based on the fact that other judges have included comedian Joel Mchale and rapper Bone Crusher, I am pretty sure the only real qualification necessary is a willingness to eat anything (similar to the requirements to be on YTV's "UHOH"... another viable option).

LSUC's Next Top Models

TECHNICAL ADVISOR ON A LAW SHOW

Shoot, since Matlock, there have been countless legal TV shows. If there's anything I learned from LA Confidential, it's that being a technical advisor for a show is the most glamorous part of show business. I've watched TV... Harry's Law needs us. Maybe you can come up with a Joe Friday catch phrase for your lawyer even more creative than "Just the facts, ma'am."

And if all else fails... I'm sure you could get into paralegal school...

THE NEW KIDS

Meet the 2011-2012 team of Oyez editors! The Oyez welcomes the new team and wishes them the best of luck in the new school year.

Hello. I'm Sirius Biniiaz. This year, you've come to know me as (a) that devilishly handsome fellow who struts his stuff around the lower pit like it's nobody's business; (b) that relentless chap who Mary Mitchells your facebook accounts with endless social committee invitations; or (c) that vision of absolute gorgeousness Dorts is seen puckering up to in Matt Fish's eternal profile pic. Well my darlings, starting next year, you'll have the absolute honour and privilege of getting to know me as your new OYEZ

Editor-In-Chief. I KNOW!!! I TOTALLY MADE YOUR DAY DIDN'T I?!

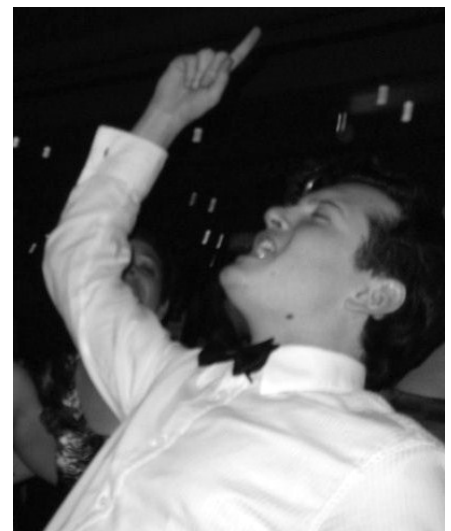

My Co-Editors/Minions & I promise to make next year's OYEZ bigger, better, funnier and more offensive than ever... and as an added bonus, there will be ABSOLUTELY NO mention of Ricky Gill whatsoever in the upcoming issues. So watch out for us next Fall, and if you haven't got one already, try and grow yourself a sense of humour over the summer.

Anna Wintour, eat your heart out!

-Sirius Biniiaz, Oyez 2011-2012 Editor-in-chief

The reason I wanted to become a co-editor of the Oyez? Funny you ask. As a teacher, I got to tell people what to do, and if they didn't do it... well, they disappeared for a while, in the office! So I got to thinking, where can I boss people around at law school?? The answer: The Oyez. Or so I thought. Apparently I'm only here to make some comedic insights about events and happenings around the school. Too bad for you, I think I'm funnier than I actually am. Just do me a favour and laugh anyways.

-CHRIS MARSHALL, Oyez 2011-2012 Co-editor

Hello Readers,

My name is Gordon Akilie and I will be functioning in an unknown editorial capacity for the Oyez next year. The position will fall somewhere within the blurred roles of editorial assistant, lackey and bh.

I originally hail from St. Catharines, Ontario, where wine flows in violet rivers, creeping like serpents between closed-down factories, newly-erected call centres and bingo halls. Much like Windsor, living in Niagara has taught me the virtues of humility and entrepreneurialism: with the right perspective - if you replace stock options with hair extensions, for instance - Wyandotte isn't that far from Bay Street.

Personally speaking, I am a walking dichotomy. During the week I enjoy reading, cooking, long-distance running and "healthy living". But on weekends the "St. Kitts gene" (see: Gerry Grossi) spontaneously engages, prompting topless dancing, embarrassment and, later, cringe-worthy peanut-butter consumption. Over the years it has been confirmed that these extremes cannot be reconciled; in fact, they support one another. I also have a 31-pound cat. His name is Muff and I love him.

But enough about me! Please send your biographies via email at any time - I will read them and then we will high-five and wink in the hallways. It will be weird for all parties.

I look forward to serving you next year.

Cheers,

g. Oyez 2011-2012 Co-Editor

"I have to get this new copy of the Oyez! There's a BLURB about me in there!"
"A blurb?! YOU'RE A BLURB!"—George Costanza and a serial killer

Hello, fellow legal scholars. I am almost as psyched to be a co-editor of this magazine as I was when I opened my U of T rejection letter. They both are preludes to sarcasm and an offensive form of comedy.

About me: Chuck Taylors, thick framed glasses, and a bomber jacket have been wardrobe staples of mine since age 4. Despite popular belief, I know that Cher and N'sync are the pioneers of autotune. The only reason I am at all better than Lt. Daniel Kaffee is because I can, in fact, handle the truth.

—LINDSAY TRAVES, Oyez 2011–2012 Co-Editor